

Welcome message by the British-Norwegian Chamber of Commerce.

The British-Norwegian Chamber of Commerce (BNCC) is a non-profit organisation based in Oslo, it was created with the aim of promoting business between Norway and the UK. The BNCC strives to be the leading independent networking forum for the promotion of British Norwegian trade, providing a professional and social environment in which we introduce organisations and their representatives to the British-Norwegian business community in Norway.

We host regular events throughout the year, with speakers who cover topics of interest from business life in the two countries, offering opportunities to meet business leaders who are actively working in the British and Norwegian markets. Discussions and social gatherings follow the presentations, allowing ample opportunity for networking. Our events usually take place at the British Embassy in Oslo, where members have the opportunity to meet Embassy representatives.

Offering a network of over 200 active participants in excess of 100 member companies and collaborators, from a broad range of sectors including energy, shipping, IT/media, financial and educational. Membership with the BNCC is open for all companies and individuals interested in activities of the BNCC and to those aiming to develop their professional network.

It would be a great pleasure for us to see you at one of our events and have your name associated with us in the promotion of British-Norwegian trade. For more information about the BNCC, forthcoming events and application for membership, please make contact with us.
